"Not long ago, I didn't know what was going to become of my children and myself. My mother had just died. I felt like I had lost everything. We had no home; I had no job. I didn't know how I was going to provide for my family. In working with the Shelter staff, I gradually put the pieces of my life back together. I go to work every day, and it is rewarding. My children and I have a home. I am a better woman now, a better mom, and I've become a better person. I have always had a good heart and have always been a giving person in life, because of where I am today and my experiences, I want to continue to help others in any way that I can. This is my home now."
